

Living History Wax Museum at Westwood Elementary

The fourth grade students in Marilawren Mundy's class have been learning about the American Revolution. To make history come alive, these students played the roles of key figures and countries of the Revolutionary War. Students have been learning about the key figures of the American Revolution. Students researched a vital figure, and then they performed a living history wax museum for the other fourth graders, third graders, and parents. Some of the key figures included; Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, Thomas Paine, and the Daughters of Liberty.
